"A fascinating wine that I have been following for a few years, made from a grape cross of hybrid/vitisvinifera grapes to create a variety that is resistant to mildew and other vineyard issues and therefore less treatments. Now getting into its stride after a good few vintages, still quite a different flavour profile to a classic Bordeaux white, with touches of candyfloss and crab apple, alongside extremely attractive citrus notes. Enjoyable, firm acidities and plenty of character. DrinkingWindow 2021-2026" Jane Anson

« A crisp citrus tone melds with perfumed fruit and a hint of steel in this bright white. This is one of a pair of wines from grapes developed in the Swiss Jura, Sauvignacis a cross between Sauvignon Blanc, Riesling and some unknown hybrids. » Roger Voss
